

Introduction to Kingian Nonviolence Conflict Reconciliation

A two-day workshop with Kazu Haga and Jonathan Lewis

Saturday & Sunday
May 26–27, 2012
9 AM–5 PM

Open to all

Jonathan Lewis is a Senior Kingian Nonviolence Trainer who currently works with the Center for Nonviolence and Peace Studies and served on the International Global Conference

Series from 2000-2002. Dr. Bernard LaFayette introduced and trained him in Kingian Nonviolence in the late 1990s, and continues to this day.

Kazu Haga's introduction to social justice came at 17, when he participated in the Interfaith Pilgrimage of the Middle Passage, a walking journey to retrace the slave trade. He is a Level II Kingian Nonviolence Trainer and is also certified in Alternatives to Violence. He is the Program Director of the Peace Development Fund and co-founder of Communities United for Restorative Youth Justice (CURY).

This two-day training will provide participants with a comprehensive introduction to the philosophy and strategy of Kingian Nonviolence. This training is useful for anyone who deals with conflict: inter-personal or larger social conflicts, whether in your personal life, in the workplace, or in your work for social change.

During this training, we will go over the types and levels of conflict, readings and analysis of Dr. King's thinking, the six principles of nonviolence and the six steps of nonviolence. The training will include lectures, role-plays, video presentations, and other interactive activities. More information available at www.positivepeacewarriornetwork.com.
